

Session 4

Modifiable and non-modifiable risk factors

A risk factor is something that increases your chance of getting coronary heart disease. The more risk factors you have, the more chance you have of getting the disease.

